

OCEANS MINGLE WATERS IN CANAL

Ten-Year-Old Son of Superintendent Zinn Touches Off Necessary Blast.

SMALL STREAM IS RUNNING

"In a Fair Way to Have a Canal Before Long," Is Comment of Colonel Goethals.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) Panama, October 11.—At 3:43 this afternoon the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific joined across the Isthmus of Panama for the first time in the history of the world.

Ten-year-old Kenyon Zinn, son of A. S. Zinn, son of the superintendent of the canal, touched off a small blast in the Culebra slide, completing the work begun there yesterday and letting the water through. The breach in obstruction was only a slight one and only a small stream of water trickled through, but the accomplishment of this breach was historically and practically of greater importance than was the more spectacular blowing up of the Gamboa dike yesterday.

An uninterrupted channel of water has now been established through the entire canal. The average depth is twenty-five feet.

Last Serious Impediment. The point where the union of the oceans occurred today is at the south end of the Culebra slide, which is the last serious impediment to the completion of the canal. Water sufficient for the passage of ordinary vessels is now circulated at either end of the slide. When this obstruction is removed the big ditch will be practically complete.

A considerable volume of water is flowing to-night through the trench made to-day through Culebra slide. It is increasing each hour. To-morrow a big channel will be blasted in the slide, and then an immense volume of water will be allowed to rush through the opening in the hope of partially clearing away the slide.

Bridges Passing Through. Bridges are passing through the Pedro Miguel and Miraflores locks for the first time since they were completed. These will be used to attack the Culebra slide, beginning Monday, while a set of bridges have already been put at work on the other side of the slide as well.

The joining of the waters of the two oceans to-day was expected. Even Colonel Goethals, who has been spending much of the day in navigating the canal between Gatun and the Gamboa dike.

Superintendent Zinn stole a march on the "chief" and ordered the workmen present when the charge was exploded and marked the great event. "Have a Canal Before Long." When he heard of the work, Colonel Goethals said: "We are now in a fair way to have a canal before long."

AUSTRIA ALARMED BY ITS EMIGRATION

Shortage of Recruits in Army of 100,000—Italy Also Moves to Stop Drain.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) London, October 11.—Emigration from Austria-Hungary to the United States and Canada is increasing so greatly that the authorities in Vienna and Budapest are taking steps to check it.

The shortage of recruits this year for the army of the dual monarchy is said to be about 100,000. The farmers are also complaining about the lack of labor, so many able-bodied young men having gone abroad.

It is said that over 30,000 liable for army service are now in Canada, and not one responded to the recent summons to return.

The rivalry between the Austro-American and the Canadian-Pacific companies, the latter of which early this year established a service from Trieste, has resulted in more transport facilities at a cheaper fare.

It is understood also that the Italian government proposes to stop the Italian emigration to America, both north and south, and divert it to Tripoli.

APPETITE WAS POOR

Peruna was advised. Was completely restored. Suffered Nearly Twelve Years, Peruna was my Relief.

Mr. James P. Bracken, No. 442 W. 43d St., New York City, N. Y., writes: "For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times also."

"I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month, when my cure was almost complete. To-day there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

November Brings Dyspepsia. November is very liable to bring dyspepsia. People eat too much in November. This is perfectly natural. During the hot weather little food has been required.

Food has two purposes, tissue building and repairing and heat making. The heat making properties of food are not needed so much during the hot weather.

Hard Lines for Prince at Eton

Prince Henry Must Walk on Right Side of Street and Obey Ancient Customs.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) London, October 11.—Prince Henry, the King's third son, who is not yet fourteen years old, has a lot to learn at Eton, where his fellows in that ancient school will treat him without regard to his royal birth. By-the-by, every Etonian calls a brother student a "fellow" at Winchester all are "men."

The royal prince must "face" during his first year, brush shoes, run errands and so on. But, besides, he must learn the school slang, made truly respectable by long usage, and accustom himself promptly to customs old but still curious.

At Eton the King's son will be called a "bloody" as well as always, but not to his face. The harshest in the middle of Eton is known by master and boys as "the burning bush." There is a "burning bush" in the school when a boy is flogged by the headmaster, this being the duty of two floggers, who are generally necessary. The expression "burning bush" is an old custom rigorously maintained.

Many Biblical Names. The Bible furnishes many names for places. There is the "Waters of Babylon," so called because small boys used to "sit down and weep" there when they felt home sick. "Mesopotamia" is a creek field, and "Jordan" is a stream that flows through the Jordan.

Pupils, the room which each tutor has for his small pupils, is commonly known as "puppy-hole," for obvious reasons.

There are many other terms peculiar to Eton. For instance, sentence is always known as "stinks." Beer is called "swipes," and it is not generally known that upper boys are allowed to drink it, but only at "Tib," a public house in Eton.

Besides, Prince Henry whether or not he likes it, must dress according to long-established fashion at Eton. He must turn up the bottoms of his trousers no matter what dress he may be in; in the last button of his waistcoat must be unbuttoned always.

Cannot Roll Umbrella. He must never roll up his umbrella unless he is a member of "Pop," the Eton Society. He must walk on the right-hand sidewalk when going into or coming back from town.

Even at games the Etonian has to study etiquette. For football the wears knickerbockers of the standard gray cloth, buckled below the knee, a flannel shirt, a change coat or sweater, or both, a scarf, a cap and black boots.

Brown boots may be worn only by members of "Pop," "shoots" by boys who have played for their houses in house matches; canvas shirts are worn only by boys with their house colors. For fives and other games certain clothes have to be worn.

GEORGE L. NEWMAN DIES IN 98TH YEAR

Owner of Oldest Life Insurance Policy in America and Perhaps in World.

GEORGE L. NEWMAN.

Charlottesville, Va., October 11.—George L. Newman, the owner of the oldest life insurance policy in America and, perhaps, in the world, died at 1 o'clock this morning at the home of his son-in-law, Henry L. Lyman, near the university in the ninety-eighth year of his age. The remains will be taken to Buffalo, N. Y., his former home, for interment.

Mr. Newman was born July 15, 1816, at Newburgh-on-Trent, England, and at the age of fourteen, he came to this country and lived at Buffalo, N. Y., until 1878, when he moved to Virginia, making his home for a long term of years near Charlottesville. Several years ago he came to this city to reside. Mr. Newman never touched alcoholic beverages, but had smoked for seventy-five years. Until a week ago, he took a drive almost daily, and was a familiar figure upon the streets. A week ago he enjoyed a game of whist. One daughter, Mrs. Henry L. Lyman, and three grandchildren survive.

While in Buffalo, on January 24, 1841, Mr. Newman took out policy No. 458, in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, which company began to issue policies on February 1, 1845. The application at that time stated his work confined him to his desk, but that he walked to his meals, one mile and back, making six miles a day. The policy was originally $1,500, but now amounts to $5,587.51 from dividend additions. In addition to policy No. 458, Mr. Newman held two other contracts with the Mutual, the last one being issued when he attained the age of fifty-eight years. On July 15, 1912, a number of men representing the Mutual Company, came to Charlottesville to observe Mr. Newman's ninety-eighth birthday. This year, however, Mr. Newman's health was such that his birthday was observed by sending him flowers and good wishes.

KING EMBARRASSED. Plan to Summon Council Would Put Him in Peculiar Position.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) London, October 11.—The position of the King in the home rule controversy is engaging more and more attention. The problem is one bristling with difficulties.

The more uncompromising Unionists are coining a proposal that Mr. Majesty should be presented with a petition against the bill signed by privy councillors only. A large proportion of the council could go to such a meeting, and it would be a formidable affair for all concerned.

Don't Hold Your Old Car Too Long

YOUR old automobile becomes less valuable every day. If you wait, you will not get as large an allowance for it in a trade toward a desirable new car as you can now get.

You are mistaken if you think anyone will make an allowance in excess of its real worth in the purchase of a more desirable car.

Do not be deceived into thinking anyone will allow you more for your car than it is worth.

True, someone may make an offer that seems more liberal, but the price your car will bring—cash—and the value of the new car are ever-present influences that dictate the terms of the exchange.

A Car Not Built For Trades. The Hudson Six 54 is not built for trades. It is priced at a figure that gives value and not deception. Dealers are not given extraordinary profits to be used in absorbing old cars so that the buyer is lead to think he is getting a bargain.

In appearance, in quality, in value, the Hudson Six 54 can be compared with any automobile at $3,000, or even $4,000. Some people would pay $4,000 for this car if that were its price. So many could not be sold, it is true, but if our profits were increased by overpricing the car we too could make trades that would be attractive to those who have old cars to trade and who do not enquire closely into values.

Come! See This New Car SEE this most beautiful car ever designed. Examine its true, streamline body. The six-cylinder motor that propels the car at any speed, over any kind of road, with the smoothness and safety of an express train.

No wanted equipment is lacking. Come and see the car and then consider what you get when excessive allowances are offered for your used car.

SEEK HUSBANDS AND NOT VOTES

Gaby Deslys Advises Women to Select Ones Without Any Beard.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) London, October 11.—Gaby Deslys, who is appearing at the Palace Theatre, has been giving her views on some truly important questions. "Should bachelors be taxed?" "Are clean shaven men preferable to men with hirsute decorations?" "Should women propose marriage?" "Do you favor votes for women?"

Here is the fair dancer's cumulative answer: "Tax bachelors" monsieur. No, of course not. You in America are what you call democratic; you love freedom of living; you make, what you call, the 'big boast' that you have won your freedom.

"Well, it may be so. But to lighten the purse of single gentlemen because they prefer freedom to marriage, which could mean the end of the world. Why, monsieur, it is grotesque, perfectly absurd."

"Mustaches Are Not Nice." "Tax bachelors, bachelors, and I cry out loud to the proposal, for clean shaven men I always like most. Ugh! I hate mustaches and beards; they are not nice. American gentlemen are mostly clean shaven, and have a well-to-do look—so fresh, so clean, so energetic!"

"You understand that in business a clean shaven face is what you call a greater commercial asset to its owner than a face so covered with a beard and mustache that the character of the mouth and chin is hidden. Isn't it?"

"So you ask me also about women proposing; is it right? Nowhere! I think many a woman, however, although she does not actually propose, gentleman to marry her, is so cunning—what you call 'cute'—that she makes him ask her to be his wife even against his will. Of course, if a woman can make marriage happy she is not to be blamed for this."

Need Husbands, Not Votes. "Do not you think, though, monsieur, that it would be more wise for women to propose than to shriek for votes? Ugh! They are just a lot of old, crazy women who do such foolish things for the right to vote."

"If I were a woman, I would want, it is husbands. You never saw a pretty girl who was a suffragette. I hope your American women will not be so silly as are the disappointed, unhappy women of England."
